Royal borough crowned council of the year in local government awards

Simply the best!

GREENWICH has been named as the best local authority in the country.

The royal borough won Council of the Year at the prestigious annual awards of the Local Government Chronicle, the respected public sector magazine.

Judges at last Wednesday's event said that "excellent planning and brave decision-making" had led the royal borough through a historic year in 2012.

They said Greenwich "combined a long-term sustainable strategy with successful delivery across a wide range of areas."

And they were impressed with the council's focus on growth and investment, and its work with those hit by the benefit cap.

The news ends a remarkable year which saw Greenwich become the first borough to gain royal borough status in 80 years, while its role as a host borough for the Olympic and Paralympic Games also put Greenwich on the global stage.

The royal borough was singled out for praise of how policy decisions, strong leadership and shrewd financial management had helped secure front-line services and create new opportunities for residents in the face of recession.

What is this 'tax' exactly?

MANY in our forum have expressed concern over the 'bedroom tax', who will it affect and how. We have heard so many conflicting reports, it is worrying a lot of pensioners. What is the exact meaning of this 'tax' and how will it impact on pensioners?

Mary Simpson, Greenwich Pensioners Forum

● The move is part of new government rules which mean council and housing association tenants will have their Housing Benefit entitlement reduced if their home is considered too large for their needs. Pensioners are not affected by this change but you can find out more at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/welfarereform or call the housing welfare team on 020 8921 3129.

Charge neighbours to park here

Star Letter

DESPITE the increase in traffic congestion around the Eltham High Street area, it's nice to know that parking is still viable in many nearby roads for a minimum charge or, even for free. Since January, it has become increasingly apparent that we are being joined by widespread commuter parking, especially around the Falconwood BR station, Old Rochester Way and Welling Way area. The gradual creep towards Eltham is becoming apparent now that train fares have shot up. So can I suggest a reciprocal charge for these Bexley and Kent commuters for the day-long parking which clogs up our roads? Or at the very least, maximum free parking time in the areas listed? When you travel to neighboring boroughs you are forced to pay for parking, often hundreds of metres from train stations. The ideal solution would be maximum parking times, say three hours? That would service the community, but deter parking by commuters.

G.Wooldridge
● THANKS for the suggestion. We understand your concerns and a recent review of parking has highlighted a need to address this issue. We have discussed the introduction of controls with colleagues at Bexley Council, as this would move traffic across the boundary and we have a duty to avoid this. We are considering action to improve this situation but when dealing with cross borough matters, this can take longer than we would wish. Any proposed changes will be subject to local consultation.

Sorry but Blackheath IS common land

RE the GT letter (February 26) I believe Blackheath, regardless of description, is common land. It was far better prior to the 20th century when it was not levelled for football pitches and had diverse vegetation like the dips area. I think it's tragic that two councils, Lewisham and Greenwich, have allowed the common people to be excluded by removing most of the parking altogether by filling in the small roads and unnecessary parking restrictions. I see the Blackheath Society as operating a vendetta against the rights of access as demonstrated by their inexplicable vendetta against the Blackheath Tea Hut.

They should be joining with the people they seek to exclude to pressure authorities to restore the heath to a place of beautiful recreation rather than a sterile games pitch.

Andrew Graham, Blackheath

No tall story this year, I hope...

IN 2012 I took several children down to Greenwich to witness the arrival of the flotilla of tall ships. But the ships did not come as promised in all the local and tourist press. Hopefully this year they will get it right.

Ann Dingsdale, Blackheath

● SORRY to hear you missed them.

The ships were turned back after concerns that the tide would take them too close to the HMS Ocean, but they sailed every day after that, and were moored at Woolwich Arsenal during the Olympics. This year the ships are at the Arsenal for five days from August 28, and sail every day. We hope you enjoy seeing them.

Classy coffee boost for Woolwich town centre

Espresso delivery!

by Dick Townsend-Smith

IT was time to wake up and smell the coffee when a new cafe opened in Woolwich last week.

Baristas at Coffee Lounge poured their first cappuccinos, lattes and double espressos on March 11, inside the Woolwich Equitable building in General Gordon Square.

It's an independent coffee house that is being managed by Cass Briggs, (pictured) who also runs the Greenwich Comedy Festival.

She told GT: "We are hoping we have arrived in the square at just the right time, with all the regeneration work that is going on."

"There's lots of things happening here, and we want to build on the success of what I saw in the square during the Olympics."

"I've taken on 15 members of staff, both full and part-timers, and they are all local and live within walking distance."

Coffee Lounge is among the latest developments that are bringing business back into the heart of the town.

Cass has spent five months working with professional coffee consultant Robert Henry, who trained in Italy and who designed the sophisticated cafe.

He has worked in 25 different countries and is training the Woolwich staff to become top baristas, skilled in the art of preparing a great coffee.

• Coffee Lounge is open seven days a week, from 7am to 7pm. Customers can get a loyalty card, which offers a tenth coffee for free. It also plans to offer the Greenwich Card, which will give users a 15 per cent discount. There is also a food menu that includes salads, soups, cakes and filled rolls.

Post haste for 13 offices

THIRTEEN Post Office branches in the borough have launched Drop & Go, a new service that allows business customers and internet power sellers to use a fast track pre-paid card to send their mail. The new Drop & Go service offers an efficient mailing option for small, local businesses that regularly spend more than £20 a week on postage. Small business customers in the Greenwich area are now able to simply hand over their mail at the fast drop counter at these branches and swipe their pre-paid Drop & Go card.

Stall's well for Get Together

FOOD LOVERS save money

You can save up to £50 a month by throwing away less food.

Find out how at:

lovefoodhatewaste.com

Keep your food fresher for longer...

We all throw away food, and in fact, much of the food we throw away just doesn't get used in time, and includes 17 billion '5 a day' portions (more than a fifth of what we buy).

Did you know...

- Modern packaging allows your food to stay fresher for longer not just on shelves in the supermarket but in your home as well.
- The impact on the environment of food waste, is many times greater than the pack it comes in - 6 times for apples, 30 times for tomatoes and 100 times greater for lettuce.
- Most fresh fruit and vegetables, such as peppers, carrots and oranges, will last for at least a week longer if kept in the fridge, but two weeks longer if kept in their original packs (or a loosely tied plastic bag) in the fridge.
- In the UK we buy almost 40 million tonnes of food and drink every year, and this is protected by less than 4 million tonnes of packaging.

Garage training course drives students back to work

Smart women

by Hilary Bryan

SMART women are driving new careers in the motor industry thanks to a new course in car care.

The new SMaRT Women courses were launched on International Women's Day on March 8 by the First Step Trust, an entrepreneurial charity supporting people with mental health issues and other disadvantages back into work.

The new training programme sets out to boost women's confidence and understanding of basic motor vehicle maintenance.

The one-hour course, delivered by women for women, takes people through the driver's legal requirements, the MOT, routine car maintenance and basic safety checks, followed by a practical session in the workshop.

Any woman driver can sign up for the course to improve their knowledge and skills of basic car maintenance so that they can keep themselves and their passengers safe, save money by keeping their vehicle well maintained and reduce their impact on the environment.

The project, run as a social enterprise, aims to also create job opportunities and develop the skills of Greenwich residents wanting to get back into work.

It operates from a working garage called SMaRT Garage Services, at 9 Kingside Business Park, Ruston Road, Woolwich.

SMaRT stands for 'Socially Minded and Responsible Trading' and conveys First Step Trust's commitment to a high quality service and support for the community.

The trust which started in Greenwich more than 20 years ago is supported by the royal borough. During the project launch guests were given an exclusive preview of the SMaRT Women scheme.

Guests included Cllr Denise Hyland, the royal borough's cabinet member for regeneration, enterprise and skills, who hosted the event along with local business women and residents.

She said: "I welcome the launch of this new initiative. It tells you what you need to know in terms of car maintenance and safety and it also gives you the confidence to carry out routine practical tasks yourself. I would recommend it to women in the borough."

SMaRT Garage Services is offering a 20% discount on labour costs to anyone who mentions this article when they book a service or repair any time before September 30.

INVOLVED: Andy chats with a pupil

That's Andy for Willow Dene!

A SPECIAL visitor got a special welcome at a special school on Friday, March 9.

"The pupils are fantastic and teaching is at its best in this school."

Year 5 pupil Ella told Andy: "We always try our best at school, like the Olympic values. We never give up and the Olympics taught us that it doesn't matter if we win or lose, you just need to try your best, that's what's important"

SPOTLIGHT ON ELTHAM

Exploring Eltham

ELTHAM is the place to be on Sunday (March 24) when the town throws open its doors and becomes a top tourist attraction.

There's a host of activities going on – and big discounts available on meals, drinks and snacks in the town's restaurants and cafes.

The event is called 'Be a Local

Tourist Day', and is designed to encourage locals to find out more about the attractions on their doorsteps.

A free guided walk of the town centre will begin at 2pm outside Eltham Palace's main gate. There are also free guided tours of historic Eltham Lodge and the Royal Blackheath Golf Club – said to be the country's oldest. Greenwich residents can also visit Eltham Palace for half-price. Also holding an open house are the Bob Hope Theatre, Eltham Fire Station and historic St John's Church.

Eltham is a traditional town centre with a strong sense of community. The town is very self-contained with shops, leisure, community and tourist facilities all within easy walking distance. At the heart is the Eltham Centre (pictured) which provides a range of council advice and payment services, together with education, library and leisure facilities, and now attracts around 20,000 visitors per week.

The town's shops cater for all tastes and budgets, with specialist independent shops alongside a broad range of national retailers, and a growing number of cafes and restaurants.

A farmers' market operates on the third Sunday of every month in Passey Place between 10am to 2pm. Vacancy rates in the town centre remain well below the national average.

Switch and save

The royal borough joins bid to help cut energy bills

A CHANCE to cut the cost of ever-soaring energy bills is being offered to people living in the borough.

Greenwich has joined with 17 other London boroughs and the London councils organisation to launch an initiative to 'bulk buy' from the energy companies.

With such a huge number of customers, the group will have greater bargaining power than they would as individuals. This means that together they hope to persuade energy companies to compete to offer their best prices.

The scheme is called the Big London Energy Switch, and people are being invited to register for it. The more people who join, the greater their buying power, and the lower the price that may be offered.

Anyone who pays an electricity or gas bill, including those on pre-payment

(key) meters, is able to register. Once they have signed up, they are not under an obligation to take part in the scheme, but they will be provided with the option of changing energy supplies if the deal offered is right for them.

Savings depend on how much energy is used, and the current price paid. There is no guarantee everyone who registers will save money, but similar schemes have produced an annual saving of between £60 and £200 per household. It is estimated that 325,000 homes in the 17 boroughs are in fuel poverty, which means more than 10 per cent of income is spent on electricity and gas. But up to 1.75million households could be helped to get a better energy deal.

Thousands of Londoners have already registered their interest. Cllr Harry Singh, the royal borough's cabinet member for Greener Greenwich, said:

Are you paying too much for your gas and electricity?

"The Big London Energy Switch provides an exciting opportunity for Greenwich residents to use the strength of the community to get a better energy deal. It is yet another way the council is tackling the causes of fuel poverty by improving the affordability of electricity and gas to households, making sure they are able to keep warm and safe."

● For more information or to sign up, visit www.biglondonenergyswitch.org.uk Or call 020 8921 5100 and register by telephone.

One hour to save the planet

GREENWICH'S main council buildings will be plunged into darkness for an hour on Saturday (March 23) when the royal borough takes part in a global show of strength for energy-saving.

At 8.30pm hundreds of millions of people will turn off their lights for one hour all at the same time across the world in a symbolic show of support for action to protect the planet.

Everyone signing up to the event is asked to switch off non-essential lighting in their buildings, highlighting the need to reduce energy consumption. The World Wildlife Federation coordinates the annual event known as Earth Hour. The royal borough has signed up to the initiative, and is encouraging other organisations and businesses to do the same.

Royal borough buildings taking part include the Woolwich Centre, the Town Hall and Charlton House. Last year 152 countries and 6,950 towns and cities across the world took part in Earth Hour. In the UK more than 7.6 million people got involved, joining 3,500 schools and more than 1,200 businesses and organisations. ● Further details at www.earthhour.wwf.org.uk

FREE WHEELIN' FUNDRAISERS: the staff from Nightingale were all geared up thanks to the NHS bike loan scheme

Wheels of fortune

TEACHERS got saddled with bicycles for a charity ride thanks to an NHS bike loan scheme.

The six staff from Nightingale Primary School in Woolwich pedalled 20 miles along the Thames Path between the Firepower museum and The 02, as part of a sponsored cycle. They went out training together, using cycles they borrowed for four weeks from the NHS Greenwich cycle loan scheme. The teachers were able to raise £568 for the CATS Foundation, which supports sufferers from the neurological genetic Tay-Sachs disease. Danielle Hart, assistant at Nightingale, said: "None of us had ever heard of Tay-Sachs until we were told about a friend's child who had it. So we decided to hold a sponsored ride, and we met up and went out training after work. Some of us hadn't been on a bike since we were children." She added: "Until now only one of the group has cycled regularly, but everyone said they really enjoyed it and thought it was a great way to get fit, they are already discussing when they can do their next cycling challenge." People can rent a bike from NHS Greenwich for £10 a month. The cost includes London Cycling Campaign third party insurance and membership.

● For more information go to www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/cyclehire To register you have to live in the borough, be over 18 and must have a basic level of cycling competence. The last induction of the current round is being held on March 26 so book now to avoid disappointment.

Miss the bus? Walk instead

WALKING just one mile will burn off 100 calories for the average person. It's healthy exercise, and more environmentally-friendly than going by car or bus. National Walk to Work week is planned for May 17, when people across the country will be encouraged to give their normal transport a miss, and walk instead. Information will be available nearer the time for people who want to walk either alone, or with colleagues. They can also think about getting sponsorship to raise cash for charity.

WIN! A Valentine's Day wedding or civil partnership at Charlton House

BETROTHED couples still have two more weeks to enter our competition for the chance to win a ceremony of their dreams. Scores of couples have already told us their reasons for wanting to exchange their vows at the historic mansion in the heart of Charlton Village. The 400-year-old house and gardens is the perfect venue for a wedding or civil partnership ceremony. The house has three function rooms available for wedding ceremonies or civil partnerships. They include the wood-panelled Long Gallery for the ceremony, the Old Library which is suitable for receptions, and the Grand Salon which can be used for the ceremony or drinks reception. There's a dance floor and car park and accommodation for guests at three nearby hotels. And the in-house caterers, Relish, can provide a wealth of ideas to refresh your guests. It all makes a perfect setting for any ceremony and one lucky couple will be celebrating their union next Valentine's Day, Friday, February 14, 2014, as part of a GT competition. Love thy neigh

The royal borough is backing a new campaign designed to keep Britain a clean and pleasant land. Love Where You Live aims to inspire, encourage and enable us to make where we live, work and play the kind of place we really want it to be. GT finds out how residents of all ages can play their part...

BIN it or bag it and take it home. That's the advice from the council's environment staff who are urging residents to help them keep the streets of Greenwich clean and green,

It's all part of the new Love Where You Live campaign, launched by the Keep Britain Tidy charity and supported by the council.

The presence of litter, dog mess and rubbish on our streets is not only unsightly - it can be a health hazard and make people feel their neighbourhood is neglected and unsafe.

Last year royal borough staff swept over 750,000 km of roads and pavements and they removed 5,500 tonnes of rubbish from our streets and estates. But the best way of keeping our borough clean, safe and green is to reduce the amount of rubbish that ends up the streets, estates and parks in the first place.

The vast majority of residents and businesses want to help look after the environment and they expect action to be taken when people don't. The council has issued a record number of fixed penalty notices for environmental offences in the last year with 1,794 people receiving fines.

If you are passionate about helping to look after your neighbourhood, you can become an environment champion.

The royal borough offers all champions clean-up kits which include a litter picker, high visibility garments, rubbish sacks, anti-graffiti wipes, gloves and personal ashtrays.

Cllr Maureen O' Mara, the royal borough's cabinet member for environment and community safety said: "Greenwich is a special place to live. People who volunteer to remove graffiti or to tidy up their neighbourhoods have played a big part in helping achieve this.

"It's understandable that not everybody is able to volunteer. But they can ensure they dispose of their waste thoughtfully, recycle as much as possible, and not drop litter."

TAKING ACTION: the West Greenwich Graffiti Removal Group, and right, residents from the Waterside Close Residents Association on a litter pick

JOE Clark is one of the royal borough's many environment champions who raise concerns about environmental issues in their neighbourhoods while trying to encourage a sense of pride in the areas they live. Volunteers help to keep their neighbourhoods clean and green by organising clean ups and reporting environmental crime such as fly-tipping and graffiti.

"A shabby area will attract criminal activities and the areas we live in should be safer, secure, healthier and cleaner but we can't expect the local authority to provide these personal touches to our environment," said Joe, a 25 year-old Abbey Wood resident.

"The council does a good job if you inform them about environmental damages. It takes a small effort to speak to the council and costs nothing to work together to clean up our streets," he told GT. Sixty-eight-year-old retired biologist Carol O'Toole has lived in Greenwich for 30 years and said: "I don't see why we shouldn't take an interest in our environment and work towards a safer community."

"The council responds well if you actively raise your concerns. I am devoted to making Shooters Hill a better place to live and I believe we can all do our bit."

"Dirty environments result in depression and crime and it really doesn't cost us to pick up litter and educate the young about the dangers of environmental pollution on our health and minds," said Carol. Mother-of-two Liz Simpson said: "I became an environmental champion because I want our children to play in a safer place and we all have to do our bit."

The 38-year-old HR manager moved to Thamesmead ten years ago and has been actively involved in cleaning up the local area with the Waterside Close Residents Association.

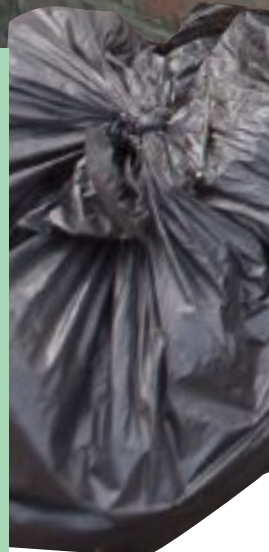

She said: "We get support and training from the council but it can only give support if people get involved. We gather together and pick litter every six weeks and we have changed the face of our community."

Fellow environmental volunteer and civil servant Felix Adeyangu, added: "We need to work together and communicate with our council." Environmental champions were among many volunteers at a royal borough thank-you reception earlier this month.

Cllr Maureen O'Mara, the royal borough's cabinet member for environment and community safety, said: "We are impressed and value the dedication of our environmental champions who complement the work of the council. Anyone who is concerned about littering, dog mess, fly tipping, abandoned vehicles and graffiti is urged to contact us. The council can offer support but it's about working together to make Greenwich a better place."

Neighbourhood

Fine time for louts who flout the law

THE following cases were brought by the royal borough against people who trashed local areas.

AN Abbey Wood man lost his transit van when he was found guilty of fly-tipping. John King of Thistlebrook Road, had to forfeit the blue transit tipper van worth £4,800 after a court case in March last year.

He had pleaded guilty to four offences of fly-tipping after piles of household waste and building rubble was found dumped on the highway.

POLICE from the Abbey Wood Safer Neighbourhood team were on routine patrol when they noticed four dogs off the lead near a children's playground where dogs off the lead is not permitted.

Their owner Gavin Young failed to have his dogs on a lead and was clearly unable to control them.

Enforcement officers took statements and four fixed penalty notices were issued. As they were not paid, the legal team proceeded with a prosecution and in October last year the defendant pleaded guilty to various offences to do with dog control and was fined £150.

A MAN who failed to provide a waste carriers licence on two occasions was fined £800 last October.

Robert Collins was stopped in a transit flatbed truck by police and found to be transporting waste. He failed to provide a waste carriers licence or to pay a fixed penalty notice. He pleaded guilty to two charges in court and was fined £400 for each offence and £400 towards prosecution costs.

How to love where you live

- Dispose of litter properly and encourage others to do the same. Use a litter bin, or better still, take your litter home and recycle it.

- Smokers can use a personal ashtray, or 'Stubbi'. Many litter bins now have built-in ashtrays too. Otherwise, they should stub out their cigarette and put it in the bin when it's fully extinguished. Cigarette ends are litter and people have been fined for dropping them.

- Bag your doggy waste and dispose of it in any general litter bin or take it home to put in your black top bin. The royal borough has dog control orders in place and has issued fines to people who did not pick up after their dogs.

- If you use bags rather than wheelie bins, leaving bags of household rubbish on the street overnight increases the chance of them being split open. Refuse collection starts at 6am so if you are an early riser it helps to put your bags out on the morning of collection rather than the night before. Call the Contact Centre to see if you are eligible for a container for your waste.

- Make use of the special collection service for unwanted bulky items. Call the Contact Centre or take them to the Reuse and Recycle Centre in Nathan Way, Thamesmead. If you put out furniture or similar items on the street without booking a time for collection it constitutes fly-tipping and the royal borough will take action against people that do this.

- Beware of other people that offer to take your rubbish away for you. Unlicensed waste carriers are often the cause of fly-tipping and householders are responsible for ensuring that anyone who takes their waste away has a licence.

- If you see anyone dumping rubbish, you can call the Contact Centre to provide us with more information so we can take further action.

We will need to know: the date, time and location, type of rubbish, and details of the vehicle, including the registration number as well as details and descriptions of the people dumping the rubbish.

- Call the Contact Centre on 020 8921 4661 or email contact-centre@royalgreenwich.gov.uk for more information on waste disposal visit www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/recycling

IT might be a good idea to take a deep breath before reading about poet-singer Louisa Le Marchand and her incomparable project, Global Fusion Music & Arts.

We might even have to resort to bullet points to cover the scope of the operation. Here goes...

"We started in 2001 but prior to that we were promoting world music in the Wine Cellar in Woolwich," said Louisa, who also plays sax and a mean blues harp. "We then started working in schools and realised the four of us needed an organisation as a focal point for the activities."

"We formed the Fusion Factory, a world music band, Kaz Kasozi, Gill Swan, Sukh Saini and I, back in 2000 and made an album 'Opiate Rhythms'. We also had a Nigerian dancer, a Japanese backing singer, a Portuguese percussionist and an Israeli bass player. People called us the United Nations of Music and we played all over the UK and in Paris supporting Papa Wemba in front of 5,000 people - great gig!"

As well as working in schools GFMA puts on monthly festival events at Charlton House, which include Refugee Day, International Women's Day, St George's Day, Africa Day and Black History Month, attracting the likes of top draws Julie Felix, Martin Carthy and Gordon Giltrap.

The project, based at Louisa's home in Charlton, receives no funding but is applying for charitable status, and they hope to move to bigger premises as soon as they can.

"We also train young unemployed people in film production," said 62-year-old Louisa. "A while ago we worked on the Ferrier Estate with Thomas Tallis school and produced a couple of wonderful films, even though it was a bit precarious at times. The young people we worked with were amazing and you can see the films on GFMA TV on YouTube.

ARTS and music company founder Louisa Le Marchand tells PETER CORDWELL how she got...

Global appeal!

"They wrote the script themselves, they filmed it and acted in it, edited it and did the music, and they even presented the film at the end of the project. It was a lovely project and we're keen to do more of them."

"We've also done lots of projects at Cherry Orchard primary school, where Gill Swan worked as deputy head, and at Willow Dene, a school in Plumstead - where the teachers are brilliant - and also with Charlton Triangle Homes, who have been great to us by giving us lots of support." Louisa is from the West Country, Salisbury, and came to London to promote her own career as a poet-singer.

"That didn't work out so well then, but later in life I had much more success with 'Jazzmoss' a band which had a great line-up including Art Theman, Henry Lowther and Trevor Tomkins and we toured the UK, fantastic band, nice tour. I would like to do more with Jazzmoss," she said, "but it was great to end up in Greenwich in 1995. I absolutely love the place and I've never been happier than I have been here."

"I feel really privileged to be doing this, even though I don't get paid. It's wonderful to meet all the different artists but just as important are the people who say how much these social events mean to their lives."

Fair Process Notice

From 1 April 2013 in line with the Health & Social Care Act 2012, local authorities will have "a duty to improve the health of the people and will have responsibility for commissioning appropriate public health services". As a result, the public health team will transfer to the local authority.

This means that information currently used by the public health team; health records held by public health services (e.g. stop smoking, health trainer services) and lists of eligible patients (names, addresses, telephone numbers) for prevention services e.g. NHS Health Checks will transfer to the Local Authority. In addition, subject to national guidance, Public Health will continue to access, a number of data sets in order to analyse the health needs and outcomes of the local population. These datasets include patient identifiable data such as names, addresses, age, sex, ethnicity, disease, use of hospital services etc.

This information will continue to be used for the same purposes; namely, the commissioning and delivery of services to promote health and prevent ill health, public health surveillance (including identifying inequalities in the way people access services or the outcomes they obtain), providing public health advice to commissioners in the NHS and local government, and health protection activities.

Any information held about individuals will continue to be held securely and in compliance with the Data Protection Act 1998.

If you have any questions or concerns about this move, please contact Audrey Antonio, Business Administrator on 020 8921 5351.

GreenwichHomes

Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 331

How the lettings policy works

Housing applicants are placed within 'Bands' according to the Royal Borough of Greenwich's policy for letting homes. Your band information is on the letter that the Council sent you when you registered, or when your circumstances changed. Property adverts say which band can apply and any other criteria. When all the bids are received, the property is then offered to: For properties advertised for band A and band B - the applicant who has had this priority status for the longest time. For properties advertised for band C applicants - the applicant who has been registered on the Council's list for the longest time.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

Apply in one of two ways

- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Royal Borough of Greenwich's website www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Important Notice

Changes to the rents and tenancies of some advertised housing association properties.

Affordable Housing

Currently the rent level for the properties you see advertised in Greenwich Homes is significantly lower than full market rents in private sector housing.

From now you will now be seeing some housing association properties advertised for higher rents, up to eighty percent of the market rent. These rents will also include the service charge that you will need to pay for the property. We will use the phrase Affordable Housing on the adverts to help you identify these properties.

Please note the Council will continue to advertise all the homes it owns at the standard rent level.

You can bid for properties advertised as Affordable Housing in exactly the same way as for other advertised properties. If you are successful the housing association may want to check you have enough income to pay the higher rent, whether you are working or on benefits. If you are currently a housing association tenant the rent you pay on your present home will not be affected by this change.

Fixed term tenancies

You will also notice that the tenancies for Affordable Housing and some other housing association properties may now be for a shorter period than the present lifetime tenancies offered by housing associations. The phrase Fixed term tenancy will be used in the adverts to identify these properties. The tenancy details will be explained to you if you are successful when you view the property.

Please think about these changes when bidding for an Affordable housing property and make sure you can afford the home that you choose.

This is what happened to the homes advertised in issue 328

Sisters win place at London Marathon after joint win

by Peter Cordwell

DEVOTED sisters Ella and Lily Newton refused to take each other on in the Greenwich Mini-Marathon – so they finished joint winners!

That means they'll both be joining the mini-marathon part of the London Marathon that starts in Greenwich Park on Sunday, April 21.

"We're really pleased," said 12-year-old Ella, who goes to Thomas Tallis secondary school in Eltham. "We didn't want to race against each other, so when we took the lead we decided to run in together."

Ten-year-old Lily goes to John Ball primary school in Blackheath, and both are members of the club their father runs in, Herne Hill Harriers, although Ella does do train with a Cambridge Harriers group at Sutcliffe Park, Eltham, on Tuesdays.

"They were both delighted and they are both ambitious and would love to compete in the Olympics one day," said mum Louise.

"Ella ran in the mini-marathon at the London Marathon last year and had a fantastic day. She got to meet Jessica Ennis at the Olympic Stadium. Obviously, Lily is a couple of years younger and quite a talent, I suppose. They both swim for Greenwich Royals as well."

Winner of the boys' race – and the Greenwich-Avery Hill parkrun that hosted the event – was 16-year-old Declan O'Brien, who goes to St Thomas More secondary school in Eltham and recently joined Cambridge Harriers at Sutcliffe Park.

"I've already represented Greenwich at some school competitions and I'm really looking forward to taking part in the London Marathon," said Declan. "I train twice a week with Cambridge Harriers and have Olympic ambitions like most runners."

NICE ONE, SISTER: Ella (right), and Lily come home alone in the girls' race. Inset, after the Avery Hill victory which set them up for London Marathon

The Big London

Are you paying too much for your gas and electricity?

A scheme to help Londoners get a better deal on their gas and electricity bills

How does the scheme work?

-  The Big London Energy Switch is a collective switching scheme being run by your local council and a number of other councils in London
-  By gathering together a large number of people who want to lower their gas and electricity bills the Big London Energy Switch, using a third party 'switching provider', can encourage energy companies to offer their lowest prices
-  Once registration is closed, all the energy companies are invited to offer their best prices to everyone who registered
-  You will then receive details of exactly how much money you could potentially save by switching if you accept the offer
-  You can choose to accept the offer or not

To find out more or to register go to www.biglondonenergyswitch.org.uk or call 8921 5100.

How much can I save?

Savings depend on how much energy you use and the price of your current tariff.

There is no guarantee the switch will save money, for example customers who have recently switched may be on the best value tariff already. However there is no obligation on you to accept the offer and a similar recent scheme has seen yearly savings of between £60 and £200 per household, so there is nothing to lose by registering.

Can I take part?

Anyone who pays a household energy bill can take part, although if you are in debt to an energy company you may not be allowed to switch.

When is the switch happening?

You can register your interest now. Registration will close in late March, with offers to customers expected soon afterwards.

The Royal Borough of Greenwich has joined 17 other London boroughs and London Councils in launching the Big London Energy Switch - a scheme to help Londoners get a better deal on their gas and electricity.

To talk to an energy efficiency adviser at the Royal Borough of Greenwich please telephone 020 8921 5100 or email energy-efficiency@royalgreenwich.gov.uk.

The Big London Energy Switch is supported by 18 London boroughs:
Bexley, Brent, Camden, Croydon, Ealing, Enfield, Greenwich, Hackney, Haringey, Islington, Kingston, Lambeth, Merton, Newham, Richmond, Southwark, Sutton, Waltham Forest.
